Woodstock Chimes® Pays Tribute to Equestrian Enthusiasts

Company introduces classic chime with eye-catching horse detail and signature tune

(Shokan, N.Y.) -- Woodstock Chimes®, a leading manufacturer of precision-tuned windchimes, is honoring the age-old pastimes of horseracing and riding with its new Woodstock Equestrian Spirit Chime™. To symbolize the iconic sound of the equestrian profession, the chime is tuned to the opening notes of “Call to Post,” the signature bugle call that indicates the start of every horse race.

“Being able to take a sport that individuals love so much and create a chime to commemorate that admiration is very fulfilling,” says Woodstock CEO, Garry Kvistad. “This is a unique and harmonious way for individuals to bring a part of the races home.”

While individuals are very familiar with horses and their many uses today, such as riding and racing or use as therapy animals and farm workers, most are unaware that horses have been domesticated since around 4000 B.C. With such a lengthy history and incredible impact that equestrianism and horses have had on American culture, Woodstock Chimes realizes the importance of celebrating both the astounding sport and the animal.

The chime features four bronze anodized aluminum tubes and is accented with teak finished ash wood. The equestrian spirit truly comes alive in the chime’s windcatcher, which features a rearing horse silhouette cut from a single piece of stainless steel with a flamed-treated finish, producing wonderful burnished, coppery colors. The chime measures 26.5 inches in overall length and retails for $45.00.
